POLICY RELATING TO DOGS ON CAMPUS IN EFFECT

Effective immediately CSCSB will observe the intent of the City of San Bernardino "Leash Law" which outlines the conditions under which dogs may be brought to campus.

Dogs must be secured to a leash or chain no more than four feet long, the other end of which is retained by the person, or securely confined in a vehicle. Dogs may not be tethered on the campus or permitted in any campus building even though leashed, except for seeing-eye dogs serving their owners, animals involved in authorized research or other special circumstances with authorization obtained from the Dean of Students.

The new policy further stipulates that dogs must have a valid dog license as evidence of current rabies vaccination; that dogs in violation of this policy may be picked up and turned over to the City Pound. Under campus policy dogs not on leash will be held at the College Police area until 5 p.m.

The Administrative Council adopted the policy relating to dogs at its last meeting, Monday, November 1. Other campus or-

WILL BLOOD BE AVAILABLE

Over the past five years a total of 320 pints of blood have been donated to the CSCSB Blood Reserve Fund, and used by members of the faculty, student body and staff. To date there is no blood available in the CSCSB fund. Hospitals currently charge $40 a pint.

Recently a member of the College community needed a large supply of blood due to a critical illness in the family which depleted the College's reserve. According to Dr. Samuel Plaut, Director of the Health Center, if no reserve fund had been available at the time, the cost to the family would have

WHEN YOU NEED IT been in the neighborhood of $4,000. Dr. Plaut states that such an emergency could arise at any time and urges all persons on campus to participate in the forthcoming Blood Reserve Drive on November 18. A Bloodmobile will be on campus from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Student Services Building to accept blood donations.

Volunteers may sign up to give donations at the Student Health Center (A-117). Questions may be directed to Vivian McEachern, nurse.
